PADIMA

Policies Against Depopulation in Mountain Areas

Decentralized ospitality in Ornica village

Trysil 24-05-2011 Maria Grazia Pedrana, ERSAF

European Union European Regional Development Fund

Supported by:

Some words about the area

nity Valle Brembana,

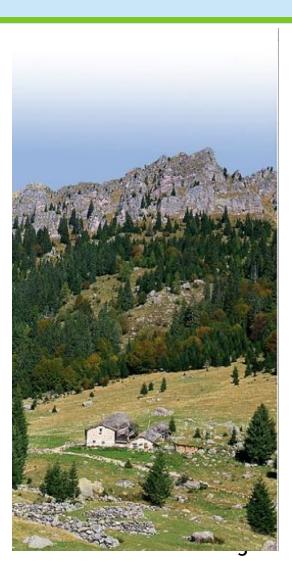

What was the problem?

Depopulation due to low job opportunities

Women unenployment

Marginalization of the area

What?

- Renovation of traditional houses to "build up" a decentralized hotel
- The rooms has located in various parts of the old village, though with a single reception area

How long?

- Since 2009
 - From a decreasing tourism to 1500 overnights in 2010

Who got involved?

 "Mountain women Cooperative Company" >> 17 women

• Ornica Municipality

How did we do?

- Sharing of the idea and collection of joinings
- Creation of the Cooperative
 Company
- Planning of the hotel in the old village
- Renovation of buildings
- Start up and marketing

How much did it cost?

- Contribution to the Cooperative for the territorial marketing and organisation >> 1.000 € per members
- Renovation costs >> in charge of each owner

Problems?

 At the beginning, give concreteness to the concept of "decentralized hospitality" >> creation of a common vision

- Stimulate the interest of the institutional level
- Organize the events with a common vision

Does it work?

- Revitalisation of the touristic sector
- Induced activities >> environmental education, cultural event, promotion of local products
- job opportunities >> 7
 women part time,
 seasonal workers

Single initiative/Strategy?

- Bottom up approach
- Sensibilisation of the institution towards a new territorial marketing

 Lack of support to become an integrated strategy >> next steps?

Transferability to other areas

- Transfer the cooperative approach and the management model
- Integration of tradition and innovation

Maria Grazia Pedrana mariagrazia.pedrana@irealp.it

Lisa Garbellini lisa.garbellini@irealp.it

THANK YOU FOR YOUR ATTENTION!